BALTIMORE, Md., June 4, 1854. Mr. Rockbridge, of the Fountain Hotel, Light street,

Dear Sir : Being on the point of leaving the city. avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more, to carry on my voyage. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vere table Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude o the proprietors of said medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed meless in all my li abs, you can appreciate nearly m vell as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it ot been for your strong and forcible recommenda-

It is really a pity this specific should not be ap ved by medical men, and like all patent drugs it hould suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was al ave opposed to a patented specific, took this medi-me with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation that instated me to try this really beneficial Vegetable

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty to make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable functure, as it has cured me in five weeks of a chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical wation. For several months past I have used it in my family; and in dyspepsis, loss of appetite, dizziness, and general debility, with entire success. So far as my experience extents, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as a safe and efficient remedy. I am, respectfully, yours,

PHILADELPHIA, March, 1, 1868. Dr. C. M. June 2d, 1852, they said: "We recommend them as an invaluable spring and summer medicine."

W. M. Orr, Wooster, O., October 2d, 1852, said:
"You ask me my opinion of the German Bitters. I have used them for Dyspepsia and Indigestion, and take pleasure in stating that I think they are the very best remedy extant for the above complaints—they are decidedly in the advance of all the propressory medicines of the day." . We recognize in it the ideas of Milton, in his Paradise Lost; Byron, in his Manfred; and Shakspeare in Macbeth. Nevertheless, the combination is one of the brightest and most brilliant literary achievements we have ever read. The man capable of thus culling and arranging the thoughts of those great masters of the art of thinking, originally possesses, himself. an intellect of great and imposing originality, beyond all question. Without any further circumlocution, we present to our readers, the extract in question

plete literary efforts of the day :

"Without science, man, the ruler o this world, would be the most helpless of all animated beings. His Creator made him the monarch of the earth, and gave him dominion over it, to govern and control it; to levy unlimited contributions upon it, and convert everything in it to his own use. But he found himself at the head of a revolted empire. All his physical forces were in a state of insurrection against his lawful authority. The inferior animals were his enemies. The storm poured their fury on his unsheltered head. He was terrified by the roar of the thunder, and the lightning seared his eye balis. He was parched under the the reverend gentleman was preaching: hot sun of summer, and in winter he was howling on his track. "He seemed an exile and an outcast in the world of which he was made to be the sovereign. But Science comes to rescue the powerless king from his misery and degradation. Gradually he learns from her the laws of his empire, and the means by which his rebel subjects may be conquered. From age to age he accumulates the knowledge that clothes him with power, and fills his heart with courage. Step after step he mounts upward to the throne which God commissioned him to fill. He holds a barren sceptre in his hand no longer. Creation bends to do him homage. The subjugated elements own him for their lord, yield him their fealty, and become the servants of his will. The mine surrenders its treasures: the wilderness blooms around him like a new Eden; the rivers and the sea bear his wealth upon their bosom; the winds waft his navies round the globe: steam, the joint product of fire and water, becomes his obedient and powerful slave; the sunbeams are trained to do his painting; the lightning leaps away to carry his messages, and the earth works with ceaseless activity to bring forth whatever can minister to his gratification."

THE MALE SERVING-MAID-FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS .- "Ann Elizabeth Coleman," the man from Schoharie county, who made such a figure, a few weeks being overheard, they were pursued and since, as a waiting-maid in a house in Albany, and who was christened "John" after his reception in the penitentiary. has brought himself again before the public, as we learn from the Transcript:

A REVOLUTION IN PAPER MAKING. The Evening Journal copies the paragraph which has been going the rounds relative to Japanese paper, and remarks: "We have some reason to doubt the accuracy of the surmise that the Japanese manufacture their paper from "a pulp of the rice plant." A friend who "knows a thing or two," thinks he has fathomed the secret; and we think if he has not done so, he has discovered something quite as available for paper purposes. If we are not on the eve of a revolution in this important branch of manufacture, we shall never guess again. But what constitutes the basis of our hope, and as one of the most beautiful and comwho the fortunate discoverer is, we are not at liberty to say. But we can assure our cotemporaries who are groaning in despair, that there is "a good time coming." We have been shown a specimen of paper manufactured from Basswood, which we have reason to believe is the discovery alluded to by the Journal. It comes nearer to what is needed than anything we have seen or heard of, and can be afforded, it is said, astonishingly cheap.

The Sirdar fell violently in love with a beautiful Armenian maiden, and demanded her from her parents .-Their supplications and those of the girl herself were unavailing; for although she had a lover, she was not formally betrothed; she was consequently carried off to the harem. During the night her lover entered the palace gardens, and in a low voice commenced singing beneath the windows of the harem, in the hope that she would hear him. Soon the window was opened and some one leaned out. Fearful that his singing had betrayed him, he fled; but as he heard nothing more he crept back, and found his beloved caught in the branches of a tree which had broken her descent to the ground. He helped her down and they prepared for flight, but eaught, and in the morning they were brought before the Sirdar; when the latter neard the circumstances of the case he exclaimed: "I see that in the sight of G d you were already betrothed. A CALIFORNIA WHEAT FIELD. -AS & specimen of what can be done on the soil of California, the editor of the Sacramento Union mentions that he had seen a field of wheat of 600 acres, growing in Yolo county, part of which, he thought, would harvest seventy-five bushels to the acre, and that ten acres had been measured off and reaped. The owner thrashed and weighed it. The weight was thirty thousand and four pounds, which, at sixty pounds to the bushel, gives sixty-six and two-thirds bushels of wheat to the acre, and other parts would furnish a greater yield.
